

Company description

Delft Imaging (Delft) envisions a world in which everyone can benefit from the modern world's medical advances, wherever they live. Delft is specifically dedicated to improving people's quality of life around the world by means of its diagnostic solutions. Through affordable and innovative diagnostics, our mission to strengthen healthcare systems globally. Delft believes that treatment can only serve its purpose when it follows adequate diagnosis. Together with private and public partners, Delft develops unique health innovations that respond to the specific needs of those that Delft believes should always be central to product design: vulnerable communities around the world. Our projects always act in awareness and respect of local customs, to ensure the projects' sustainability. Delft's integrated solutions for medical imaging are used in over 40 countries worldwide.
